I cannot recommend this programme highly enough, for those starting out in their HR careers as well as those, like me, with lots of experience.

I'm 9 modules in and every topic has been thought provoking and time well spent reflecting on what I know, have experienced and with the help of Sam Greenhalgh and Jonathan Shevlane (top trainers) and my fellow course attendees, getting a different perspective on core HR subject areas.

Certainly a great decision to invest in my own #personaldevelopment. ”

Birketts provided the perfect legal training for HR professionals. The courses were packed full of content, the takeaways were ideal and the best thing for me was that they made it so relevant – not just teaching the law, but relating it to real cases or issues in the workplace so I felt completely comfortable using that knowledge back in the work place. ”
